I want to advocate for going ahead on September 12 with our conversation on solar energy. This is a topic with some sense of urgency as I see it. We, the citizens, have delayed far too long in addressing these issues that will have far reaching effects on the world's future. I don't see how starting this discussion could interfere with the committee's work. It strikes me as merely deferring action that has already been dangerously deferred. Personally, I have been waiting anxiously for someone in authority to help me set a direction for how I can help with our energy and environmental problems. Let's get going!

Thanks,
